The appointment was made at the conference held in Harboursville. The Rev. J. S. Burton has been named as successor of Mr. Sims as pastor here.

Jake was standing in his yard and Bob was in the road about twenty-five feet away when the shooting began. Jake was unarmed.

Whitesburg—It is said here that the booster good roads trip to Hindman, county seat of Knott County, resulted in the early calling of a bond election for the purpose of voting the necessary bonds for the construction of the county's part of the Whitesburg-to-Hindman thoroughfare, which was started by this county last year, resulting in six miles of the highway—from Whitesburg to Sandlick Gap—being completed. Letcher County will complete the remainder of its part of the road in 1923.

Fulton—J. E. Cunningham, who has served as county agent in Fulton County for two years, has resigned his position to accept the office of county agent in Montgomery County, Ohio, with headquarters at Dayton. The new position pays a salary of $4,000 a year, and the farm bureau has a membership of 1,709. His successor in Fulton County has not been named.

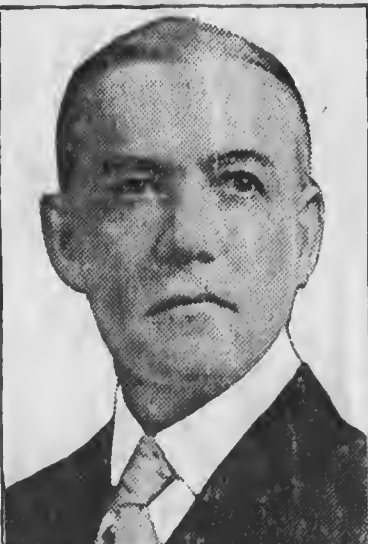

Fulton—Before officers were able to catch Sam Slumms, an insane negro, about 60, it was necessary to knock him down with a stream of water, they stated. They turned the fire hose on him. The negro made an attack on Dr. D. L. Jones, who was called to the jail to examine him, and on Police Chief Ed Drysdale. The chief shot him and slightly wounded him in order to save his own life and Dr. Jones' life. The negro tore out a piece of lead pipe from the water fixtures in the jail and defied all attempts to capture him. The fire hose was brought into play. He will be sent to the asylum.

Kuttawa—Kuttawa is to have a new business enterprise in the near future with the establishment of a handle factory. The factory will be opened by Miller & Lucas, of Dexter, Mo. They will begin operations in October.

Paducah—In the appendix removed from Miss Elizabeth Noonan, of this city, surgeons at Riverside Hospital who operated found an ordinary pin. The appendix was difficult to remove, and surgeons found that the point of the pin was protruding. The patient is recovering.

Townsend of Michigan Is "Vindicated"

Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan (portrait herewith) has been vindicated by the Michiganians. The primary had features which attracted nationwide attention. He had as opponents H. F. Baker, radical Farmer-Labor candidate; Congressman Pat Kelley and John G. Emery, former commander of the American Legion. Each of these opponents made a special appeal, attacking Townsend for his vote to send Senator Newberry of Michigan, an issue that crowded the others into the background.

The whole country was interested as the Newberry case had figured in several state primaries—If, indeed, it was not the main issue. So the result in Senator Newberry's home state was awaited with interest. Senator Townsend maintained that no money was spent illegally in the Newberry campaign and defended his vote to send Newberry.

Townsend carried 54 counties; Baker 22; Kelley 4, and Emery one. Politicians therefore claim to see in Townsend's victory a vindication of his defense of Newberry and even of Newberry himself.

Senator Townsend is a lawyer of Jackson, and served in the house for four terms beginning with the Fifty-eighth congress. If elected, his coming term will be his third in the senate.

"Cold Feet" Before, Not in the Game

Why is it that Mustapha Kemal Pasha, dubbed the "Rising Star of Europe," has through his recent military exploits brought about another of those well-known international crises in Europe?

"Ah! Caution," is the answer of Dr. James M. Fitzgerald, expert physiologist and character analyst of Chicago, after a study of a photograph of the Turk leader. "That sounds contradictory. We don't usually expect whirlwind action in a man dubbed 'cautious.' But extreme caution, reinforced with certain accompanying qualities, invariably breeds the most violently desperate action imaginable," explains the doctor.

"Note the extraordinary protuberances of this man's skull directly above the ears. That's the seat of caution. This means that, when his mind is made up, he acts fearlessly. Thus we see him fighting, coldly, calculatingly.

"Note the liberal breadth of jaw, the high cheek bones. That's where he gets his courage. We note an unusual width from the base of the skull to the tip of the chin. This shows will and ambition. We see the eyes set far apart, the bulging forehead just above the brows. This denotes keen powers of observation, of remembering what he observes. The top of the ears set well below the upper rim of the eyes. This indicates his destructive propensities.

"His lofty forehead indicates he possesses good generalship. He is able to think, plan, and deliberate before acting. 'A well-rounded chin shows his sex love. This quality explains his devotion to his own people, a kind of tribal fidelity.'

What Will the "Stormy Petrel" Do Now?

Rear Admiral William S. Sims has just celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday and therefore retired from active duty in the navy and from the presidency of the Naval War College. And now what is he going to say about things? There is a lively curiosity to know. For he's a bluff old sea dog and has long been known as the "stormy petrel of the navy." He's twice been publicly reprimanded for his freedom of speech—once by President Taft for his memorable address in Guildhall, London, in 1911, when he assured British naval officers that in the event of a war between Britain and Germany they could count upon the support of the United States. The admiral again evoked the official displeasure of the Navy department in June of last year, when, in another London speech, he severely criticized American sympathizers of the Irish cause. For these remarks he was criticized by Secretary Daniels' administration of the Navy department during the war and of the manner in which naval decorations were bestowed.

After the second rebuke Admiral Sims declared that he would refrain from all public discussion regarding naval policies, but intimated that he would have a number of things to say upon his retirement from active service.

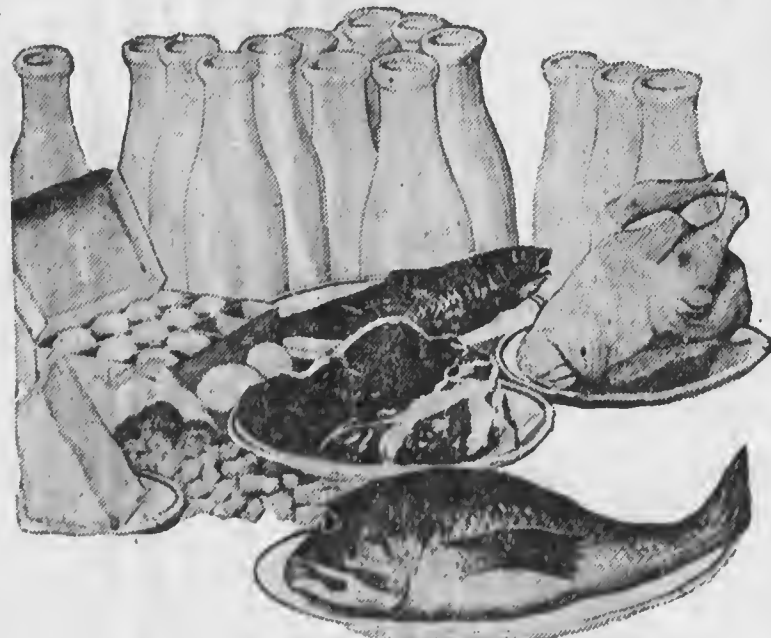

Red Cross Relief on the Bosphorus

The portrait herewith is that of Major C. Clifton Davis, of Boston, Mass., who is in charge of American Red Cross relief operations among the thousands of destitute refugees in Smyrna. Major Davis has been in charge of American Red Cross relief for Russian refugees at Constantinople since December, 1919. He went to Smyrna on an American destroyer immediately after the plight of the civil population there became known to the outside world.

Press dispatches praise Major Davis, who is regarded as a "silent hero of the district." When he is not "feeding or comforting survivors he is struggling to get the Turks, French and Italians to remove bodies from the vast funeral pyre in order to prevent pestilence," says one correspondent.

Another writes: "Another gallant American is Maj. C. Clifton Davis, who for ten days and nights did not rest, giving succor to the survivors and pleading with the Kemalists to adopt a merciful attitude. He organized the relief committee and was such a splendid, tender and lovable character that even the Turks revered him."

RECIPE FOR SIMPLE UNUSUAL CONFECTION

Recommended by the Office of Home Economics.

Nut Coated Marshmallows Can Easily Be Prepared at Home—Chocolate or Cocoa May Be Added to Sirup if Desired.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The following recipe for a simple and unusual confection that can easily be made at home is recommended by the office of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture:

Nut Coated Marshmallows.

1 cupful (4 ounces), walnuts, chopped, shelled almonds, 2 cupfuls medium chopped, brown sugar.

1 cupful (4 ounces) 2½ cupful of water, shelled pecans, 150 fresh soft chopped, marshmallows 14 1 cupful (4 ounces) six-ounce boxes, shelled English 3 in a box.

Blanch the almonds and dry thoroughly. Chop all the nuts very fine, and slake through a sieve for uniformity. Salt to taste, using about one-half to two-thirds teaspoonful for each pound of nuts. Stir well.

Make a sirup of the brown sugar and water, boiling it to 108 degrees C. or 220 degrees F. If no thermometer is available, the sirup should be boiled till it "threads" from the spoon; or this method of determining the right moment to take it off the fire is not as accurate or satisfactory. Remove the saucepan from the flame when the temperature of 108 degrees C. or 220 degrees F. is reached, but do not allow the sirup to cool. Drop the marshmallows one by one into the hot sirup, using forks to handle them. Remove promptly, and roll at once in chopped nuts. Place on oiled paper to dry. If

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

LITTLE BLACK SQUEALER

He was a little black pig, scarcely a month old and he had been sent as a present to a head keeper in a zoo.

Later he was going to be taken to a nice farm, but for the present he was enjoying his zoo home.

He had a nice little house and whenever any one came near him he would grunt as hard as he could, for he was a little lonely by himself and animals talk more when they are lonely, you know.

Then they will make many sounds, but when they are together and contented they are very quiet.

"Why talk," most of them seem to feel, "when we're perfectly satisfied?" But the little pig loved the sound of a human voice and so he grunted whenever anyone came near him, for he wanted to talk when there was so little opportunity for doing so.

Of course he squealed when he was excited, but grunting noises were the ones he made at all other times.

He was gentle, for pigs are very nice that way—they do not wish to do anyone harm.

He had been named Little Black Squealer and he seemed to like his name.

Every day he was given bran and milk and every morning the goats in the zoo let him have a quart of their fine milk. Oh yes, the goats were very obliging and helpful in the zoo.

Sometimes Little Black Squealer was given warm milk, but he would not be eating grass or weeds or vegetables for several months to come. He was too young for such food.

Now a friend of the keeper's went to visit Little Black Squealer and what a time they had!

There were three of them having a chat together, Little Black Squealer, a keeper and the visitor.

Now Little Black Squealer had bran and milk over the floor of his house and so excited he was when he found he was having visitors that he rushed along his floor and slipped so that some of the bran and milk hit the visitor.

But it did not hurt her and she was delighted at the eagerness and nice cordial ways of Little Black Squealer.

He got up on his hind feet and put his front ones against the hoards of his house and when he thought his visitors were going to leave and pay attention to some of the other animals he grunted so fast and so hard just to let them know that he did wish they would stay with him a little longer. And so they did!

He enjoyed being played with and he grunted with delight at the fun and attention he was having.

When he was held he did not like it so much and squealed in his funny shrill little way.

For pigs do not care about being held.

But he was willing and ready to be made a pet of and he was ready to promise that he would follow his keeper around, which promise he would have kept, for he was anxious to be a pet.

He did not bother much about sleeping, for he was so young and the world was so new to him and he wanted to see and do all he could.

Later on, when things were less new and less exciting he would sleep more.

He had never had his back scratched before in his little pig life.

And the keeper and the visitor taught the little pig the delights of back scratching, by scratching his for him.

How quickly he learned to love it! Soon he was spreading out his back and lying down in the very best position for back scratching.

Oh yes, back scratching was very pleasant, and so were visitors and so was bran and milk and so was the world in general.

It was a joy indeed to be Little Black Squealer Pig. He didn't care if he didn't grow up to be famous or wise or rich or prosperous.

He didn't care for any of these things, for he knew the joys of pleasant meals and visitors and back scratching and games and playing.

And these joys were so real, so real and nice to a little month-old pig!

Reason for Extra Bone.

Teacher—John, how many bones are there in your body?

John—One hundred and nine, Teacher.

Teacher—How's that? You are only supposed to have one hundred and eight.

John—Well, I swallowed one this noon when I was eating dinner.

LUXURY OR NECESSITY?

Up until the past few years a great many people have regarded good roads as luxuries—thoroughfares upon which to drive fine turnouts, but with the coming of the motor driven vehicles an entirely new phase has been put on the road question. Highways now are arteries of commerce, and just as necessary to the life of a community as the arteries of the human body to the life of the individual.

Rail freights have grown to the limit of corporate greed and there was no relief until the advent of the motor truck. In communities that had the foresight to build good roads the truck has demonstrated its ability to haul much cheaper and with more dispatch than the railroads, and communities having good roads are now reaping the benefits. Not only is freights cheaper, but the great benefit that lies in good roads is that the farmer can market his products at will and for much less cost. The motor truck is the farmer's salvation.

Good highways are now a necessity. Every community that hopes to prosper must have good roads. A good road is today as much a part of the farmer's farm equipment as his plow or mower. He can no more make money on his farm without good roads than he can without proper farming implements. In fact, all the improved machinery he buys for the farm is wasted if he has no roads to give him a market.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

The Normal School Commission failed to meet at the last date set on account of the inability of Mr. Harmon to be there. The Commission will meet later at the call of the chairman.

As the time goes by without the settlement of the location the chances of West Liberty to get the school grow better. The Commission seems hopelessly deadlocked as between Paintsville and Morehead, and the only way out now should be in choosing West Liberty. The press of the State is charging that one part of the Commission had pre-determined upon Paintsville and the other on Morehead. In view of the fact that West Liberty is by far the best location for the school, the most accessible to all the mountains and has the best school spirit, and in view of the further fact that the selection of West Liberty would meet with the approval of the entire State will make it easy for the Commission to agree upon this town for the school. The citizens of both the Big Sandy and the country adjacent to Morehead would not be displeased to have the deadlock between the two sections broken by giving West Liberty the school. All of them realize that this is the place.

Gentlemen of the Commission, why not agree upon West Liberty, giving the school to the town that has the best school spirit, the most easily accessible and that can furnish the best environment?

CITY DADS, WAKE UP!

Trustees of the Town of West Liberty, the State Highway Commission has arranged to put gravel on the road from here to Index. This road stops at the limits of the town. It would be a discredit to the town if we do not gravel the street that connects with this road. It will avail us little to have a surfaced road to the edge of the town and then not be able to get to it for the condition of our streets. Taxes are collected regularly from the citizens of the town; let's have the money expended for something that will benefit us.

We are in receipt of a letter from Senator White L. Moss, of Pineville, urging that a legislature be elected that will submit to the voters of the State the proposition to issue a State bond issue of $50,000,000.00 for the completion of the State Highway System. The Courier agrees with Senator Moss that politics should not enter the question of road building, and it stands ready to do all its power to secure the election of men pledged to a comprehensive plan for completing the inter-county seat highway system, though it believes that the bond issue should be for $75,000,000.00 instead of $50,000,000.00. There is approximately 5,000 miles inter-county seat roads that should be built, and counting $30,000.00 a mile it would require $150,000,000.00 to build them. Assuming that the Federal Government will put up half, this amount would give roads to every part of the State. We're for the fifty million bond issue, but stronger for the seventy-five million.

The Courier made a peculiar mistake last week in advertising Congressman J. Campbell Cantrell's speaking. The ad appeared "J. Cantrell Campbell," just the reverse of what it should have been, but it did not detract from the force of Mr. Cantrell's speech, which was one of the most forceful and logical campaign speeches ever delivered here.

"Newberyism" is becoming popular with the Republicans. In Rhode Island Senator H. Livingston Blackman has been caught with the goods in seeking to buy his re-election to the Senate. The manufacturers just had to have that rubber tariff to get back the big expenses of the various Senatorial expenses.

LaFollette, Republican nominee for United States Senator, says his nomination was a re-uke to the Harding administration. Still, we didn't expect LaFollette to admit it. But if we had been called upon to define his nomination we would have designated it an affront to the nation.

Dear Sir:
I have copy of your letter of the 18th to Mr. Boggs. I also just have a letter from Mr. Boggs this morning, saying that your road will be advertised for surfacing with creek gravel. He did not say when, but we have a letter on the 9th of November and I suppose it will be included in this letting. This way it will eliminate a lot of trouble.

Yours truly,
H. G. GARRETT.

Fight in Court.

Tuesday while Quarterly court was in session, deputy sheriff Neph Hughes and attorney A. H. Weaver engaged in a dispute about some money and before the bystanders could interfere were in a lively mix-up. Those near separated them before the fight had progressed far but Mr. Hughes, who is much the smaller man, suffered several bruises.

Good roads are the best investment that the people can make. Vote for the bond issue.

The Courier learns that a number of enterprises for Morgan county are waiting the result of the road bond election. If the bonds carry it will mean that new lines of enterprises will be established that could not exist without good means of transportation. Voting for the road bonds is an earnest voting for the establishment of business enterprises to bring money and employment to the county.

Mr. Cantrell's Speaking.

Hon. J. Campbell Cantrell, Congressman from the Seventh district, spoke here Monday in the interest of the Democratic ticket. It would be like attempting to paint the lily to try to describe Mr. Cantrell's speech. It was a scholarly, masterful arraignment of the "No Bonding" administration of the Republicans by one who has been on the scene and has first hand information. In contrast with the record of wonderful achievement of the Wilson administration it makes a pitiful showing.

Mr. Cantrell's speech was impressive to the farmers from the fact that he has been so active for the past few years in effecting the organization of the tobacco growers.

$1,441,486 A YEAR'S DISASTER RELIEF COST

Red Cross Aided 145,000 Victims in United States—Losses Total $30,000,000.

Seventy-two disasters, with hundreds reported killed and injured, and more than 145,000 either homeless or requiring assistance, called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,441,486 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, according to a statement based on the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross. The greatest toll of life was taken by hurricane and tornado, while the overflowing of rivers, the breaking of dams and torrential rains drove the greatest number of people from their homes. The property loss was estimated at more than $30,000,000.

The year's disasters reported included twenty-six floods, nineteen tornadoes, fifteen fires, four epidemics, two theatre collapses, two shipwrecks (one on a ship), and a bridge collapse, mine explosion, railway collision and a drought. Of the floods in the United States that at San Antonio, Texas, caused the greatest property loss, $8,000,000 and the high mark of fatalities, 100, while the flood in the vicinity of Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss., forced 31,000 persons from their homes.

A National Calamity

In the Red Cross disaster relief records there will probably remain for many years one calamity which touched nearly every state with a sense of horror and of loss. This was the distressing collapse of the roof of the Knickerbocker Theatre in Washington, D. C., resulting in thirty-six deaths and 125 persons injured. Situated in the center of the beautiful Northwest residential section, this motion picture theatre was patronized by many persons of prominence both in the official and civil life of the National Capital, whose family and personal connections radiated out over the entire country. The horror was intensified by a terrible snowstorm which, though it retarded, did not block Red Cross relief.

Airship Crash Finds Aid at Hand

The crash and destruction of the U. S. Army's large airship, Henson, in Virginia last February with the loss of 31 officers and men and 11 injured was the first disaster of its kind to call for Red Cross relief in this country. The suddenness of the accident tested the preparedness of the organization and of the chapter at Hampton, Va., but the response was immediate and relief furnished the survivors, also funds for the expenses of relatives of the dead, who came from long distances to claim their own.

In the year's overseas record for aid rendered by the Red Cross are two fires in the Philippines, one in Manila, which destroyed 1,000 homes, with a loss of $1,500,000 and 5,000 persons made homeless, the other at Tondo, which drove 3,000 from their dwellings. In medical relief that was quick and effective the sunstroke epidemic in San Domingo, which had a total of 22,000 cases with 225 deaths in a single day, tested the readiness of the Red Cross for action, and the same can be said of the San Domingo hurricane, which killed 12 persons and reduced the homes of 182 persons to wreckage. A flood in San Salvador, with a death toll of 50 and 2,000 refugees, was also effectively handled by the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

Relief Machinery Perfected
The year has seen the further perfection of disaster relief administration measures in every field of American Red Cross activity, and that the work may be carried on to still greater accomplishments the American Red Cross is appealing for widespread renewal of membership during the annual Roll Call, to be conducted this year from Armistice Day (November 11) to, and including, Thanksgiving Day (November 30).

HAVEN FOR MICE

Small Rodents Said to Infest New York's Skyscrapers.

According to Truthful Janitors, They Burrow Into Steel and Concrete, and Establish Homes.

A stenographer on the third floor of a downtown office building recently aroused considerable comment by climbing on top of her desk and waving her arms around in the air and crying loudly for someone to save her. She had seen a mouse. Now, mice do turn up in odd places in New York, everybody knows, remarks the Sun, of that city.

It is of recent newspaper record that one came out of the stony walls of the aquarium and fell into the shark tank and another mouse is reported as emerging inside the Statue of Liberty, up near the top, and looking at a party of school teachers and starting a disturbance in which several of the teachers were badly shaken up.

"Mice," exclaimed the head janitor of a steel and concrete skyscraper. "Is that the first mouse you ever saw around this place? Listen, I bring five cats to this place so far, and I been on this job just three weeks."

"Yes?" replied the investigator.

"And how have they come out?"

"You mean how have they gone out. You never saw cats go out of a place so fast. They takes one look around and blow. When a mouse gets just so competent, you know, a cat doesn't eat him any more—he eats the cat."

Another building was investigated, one of the richest banks on Wall street, a structure of terra cotta, tile and marble and skeleton steel, and from basement to top floor library, the janitor says, it is one grand cheese.

That janitor has tried everything. He says he began with traps; but gave them up. Then he turned to professional exterminators. Every week they would come and kill all the mice in the building. Every week. He grew tired of having them around after a while and bought a high-priced cat. He still keeps the cat, but it is more for sentimental reasons than anything else. He likes to have something around to pet.

Still further investigation brought to light an incident which happened on the twenty-eighth floor of a Forty-second street skyscraper. The woman in charge of a roomful of girl filing clerks looked up to find her force suddenly begin to conduct itself in a way she never approves under any circumstances.

Three girls began to walk upon the tops of their desks. Three more shinned up the sides of filing cabinets. Another girl stood in a waste basket and called for the police. And the rest crowded about the office in a riotous manner.

The department head looked upon all this as a breach of discipline. She arose and went down into the heart of the riot, intending to say so. But arriving there she changed her mind. She let out a whoop which traveled half way across Manhattan island, and picked up her skirts and fled.

A mouse had come out of the fresh-air shaft looking for a cat.

Island Religious Shrine.

Star Island, one of the Isles of Shoals, ten miles off the mainland of New Hampshire, has been dedicated exclusively to religious service for 120 years. On its rocky summit is a small graystone church which was built in the year 1800. This has been used ever since as a place of worship, first by fishermen's mothers, sisters and sweethearts who prayed for the safe return of their loved ones. During the last 20 years it has been a shrine for Unitarians and Congregationalists.

At ten o'clock each night long lines of men and women, carrying small lanterns, wend their way thither and, in churchful at a time, hang their lanterns on the walls, and how their heads in prayer or raise their voices in appropriate hymns.

But Not His Perfumery.

Bobby, a five-year-old citizen of Irvington, had been suffering from quinsy and the specialist found it necessary to give the lad ether when he lanced his throat, says the Indianapolis News. As soon as Bobby had sufficiently recovered, plans were made to have the offending tonsils removed. In order to smooth the way, Bobby's mother said:

"Now, Bobby, the same kind doctor who took away the pain from your throat last week is coming again to remove your tonsils, so that you will never have another sore throat. You liked the doctor, didn't you?"

After a short pause, during which Bobby's face showed signs of unpleasant reflection, he answered:

"Yes, I liked the doctor all right, but I didn't like his perfumery."

Palladium and Platinum.

In the investigation of methods for assaying platinum, conducted by the bureau of mines, recent experiments have developed that with certain ores, especially when the quantity of platinum is considerable, nitric acid will not effect a separation of platinum and palladium. A method which has been found to be accurate and to result in a complete separation of these metals is described in Serial 2351, "Separation of palladium and platinum by means of diethylglyoxime" obtainable from the bureau of mines, Washington, D. C.—Scientific American.

High Temperature in Mine.

In a mine in the United States, a half-mile deep, the temperature is 130 degrees.

By No Means the Same Thing.

There's a vast difference between having nothing to do and being out of a job.

Sun's Light Diminished.

Astronomers consider our sun is now a "dwarf star," but that formerly its light was 100 times greater than at present.

Says It Made a New Person of Her

Thousands of people needlessly endure a half-sick, nervous, run-down condition when they might enjoy sturdy, robust health and all its manifold blessings if they only knew what to do.

People in this condition find Tanlac soon ends their trouble and builds up abundance of strength, energy and vitality. Mrs. Paul Lavreau, 67 S. Fitzhugh St., Rochester, N. Y., says:

"Sometime ago my health and strength left me all at once. I lost fifteen pounds in a short time and could hardly stay up. I gained five pounds on two bottles of Tanlac and it has made me perfectly well and strong again."

Nervousness and a run-down, tired-out feeling are but symptoms of a hidden cause, which usually lies in the stomach. Tanlac enables you to digest your food properly, eliminate waste and regain your old time strength and vigor. Get a bottle today at any good druggist.—Advertisement.

Danger in Osculation.

When one of the Talmadge girls was in Washington some time ago she was being shown through the senate chamber by a well-known Washingtonian. Seeing a rather handsome little page, she leaned forward and impulsively kissed him. I learned the other day that after the story had reached a certain group of young girls the fortunate youngster has been eagerly sought after by those who would emulate the movie screen star's actions. The lad should remember, however, what kissing did for Captain Hobson of Spanish war fame.—Washington Star.

LOOKS SERIOUS

"Me brudder wanted me to see if you'd be engaged dis evening?"

"What a funny way for him to propose!"

Musings of a Motor Cop.

Sweet Hortense has gone too far in debt, 'tis plainly seen. While she's paying for her car she can't pay gasoline.

Up Against It.

"Smith," said the visiting artist, "if you can't make your studies and landscapes sell, why don't you try working in the nude a little while?"

"I'm right on the verge of it," said Smith dolefully. "I don't think this last suit of mine will stand much more wear!"

Accommodation.

"Do you expect that bill you have just introduced to become a law?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "If I thought it had a chance I wouldn't have introduced it. It was one of those occasions on which it seems perfectly safe to oblige a friend."

Not Worth to Be Mentioned.

Hubby (entering unexpectedly)—What are you doing?

Wifey—Writing my memoirs!

Hubby (startled)—What! Your memoirs!

Wifey—Don't be alarmed; there's nothing at all about you!

And It Doesn't Diminish.

"Your wife is quite liberal-minded, isn't she?"

"I guess so; she seems to give me a good deal of it."

The Desire for Change.

Father—I don't know what is the matter with that child. He won't stay in the same place any length of time.

Mother—He probably got it from his nurses.

Fitting Title.

Highbrow—What was that charming thing that Herr Schiltz just played on the piano?

Lowbrow—Hmroci—Yalo Record.

Does, indeed.

First Italian—Oh, looka data bird on da rubber plant!

Second Ditto—Sure; he gotta perch.

Not That.

"Some things go without saying, you know."

"Yes, but a woman's tongue is not in that class."

An Error of Judgment.

Ellie—She hasn't much judgment. Stella—I should say not. When she visits the prison on Christmas she takes calendars for the life prisoners.

A Candidate for Art.

"What makes you think your boy Josh might be a motion picture actor?"

"Well," replied Farmer Cornstossel, "Josh must be good for something, and he has tried 'most everything else."

Just Flattery.

"I understand the photographer praised your beauty very highly."

"Yes, but I've looked in vain for the last six months and he has yet to display in his front window the portrait he took of me."

What Really Costs.

Ourselves are easily provided for. It is nothing but the circumstances of life that cost so much.—Alexander Pope.

Heard on the Train.

"Is this seat reserved?"

"It seems to be. It hasn't said a word to me since I've been here."

Respected Calling.

"He's a reformed crook."

"What's he doing now?"

"Bootlegging."

A BIT SKEPTICAL

"Who is that important-looking stranger?"

"He styles himself the advance guard of prosperity. He is here to address the business men of our town."

"The hotel proprietor doesn't seem to believe he's the advance guard of prosperity. He has just refused to cash
